The Latest from the Division of Licensing

Division Response to Hurricane Dorian

On August 28, 2019, with Hurricane Dorian bearing down on Florida, Governor Ron DeSantis issued an Executive Order, declaring a state of emergency and invoking the emergency powers of the State of Florida. Such an order helps state emergency management officials and agency heads better deal with a pending disaster and its aftermath.

The Governor’s Executive Order granted Commissioner of Agriculture and Consumer Services Nikki Fried authority to institute the department’s emergency operations procedures to address the needs of its constituents and to protect the public. At the urgent request of security industry officials, the Commissioner issued an Emergency Order on August 29, 2019, suspending the provisions set forth in Section 493.6109(2)(b) and in Rule 5N-1.120 that require out-of-state security personnel to have been engaged in licensed activities for at least one-year in the state in which they are licensed as a condition for providing emergency security services here in Florida. This decision by Commissioner Fried made it possible for out-of-state temporary security personnel to enter the state with minimal bureaucratic oversight to support disaster recovery and rebuilding efforts following the storm. On September 13, 2019, after being advised by the Private Investigation, Recovery, and Security Advisory Council (PIRSAC) that there was no further need for the Emergency Order to remain in effect, the Commissioner rescinded the order.

Office of Agricultural Law Enforcement Field Sweep of Recovery Agencies

The Office of Agricultural Law Enforcement (OALE) conducted a field exercise from August 20 through August 22 in Hillsborough, Pasco, and Pinellas counties during which OALE investigators visited more than 50 recovery agencies looking for violations. For a full discussion of the results of this enforcement initiative, please read the comments made by Chief of OALE Investigative Services Michael Whitman to the members of the Advisory Council in the minutes to the PIRSAC meeting of September 13, 2019, provided below.

New Publications and Documents Available Online

The latest versions of the Private Investigator Handbook, the Security Officer Handbook, and the Recovery Agent Handbook are now available. These handbooks and other forms and publications are available on the division’s Forms and Publications webpage.

A person applying for a license pursuant to the requirements of Chapter 493 must submit a set of fingerprints and include his or her Social Security number. Information about how the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and the Division of Licensing handle fingerprint submissions, criminal history... information, and Social Security numbers is contained in this Policy Statement. This document includes a privacy statement issued by the FBI’s Criminal Justice Information Services Division concerning protocols for protecting this sensitive information.

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement’s Training Module On Property Repossession Processes is now accessible via the division's Recovery and Repossession site.

Highlights from the Private Investigation, Recovery, and Security Advisory Council Meetings

June 14, 2019

• Director Steve Hurm, Assistant Director Jordan Anderson, Assistant Director Paul Pagano, and Chief of Regulation and Enforcement John Raymaker attended the Private Investigation, Recovery, and Security Advisory Council (PIRSAC) quarterly meeting in Orlando on June 14, 2019. A quorum of the Council was present, making this Director Hurm’s first official PIRSAC meeting.

• Director Hurm solicited comment from members of the Council and from those in attendance concerning revisions to Chapter 493 that the division is considering as part of its 2020 legislative package. Of central concern was a proposed change to the provision that governs the way in which the division issues a temporary Class “G” Statewide Firearm License to individuals whose applications for a Class “D” Security Officer License is still pending. Security industry representatives on the Council and members of the audience voiced concern about how this could adversely affect the ability of security agencies to meet the needs of their clients. Director Hurm indicated that the division would take their concerns under advisement.

• Recovery agents expressed their misgivings to the Council about the forwarding industry and the potential harm to public safety posed by the forwarding business model. Under this business model, a forwarder functions essentially as a repossession broker, inserting himself between a lienholder and the licensed recovery agent responsible for conducting the repossession. Traditionally, the authority to perform a repossession has been granted through a direct line of communication between a lienholder and a recovery agent. The recovery industry believes that the forwarders’ severing of this direct line of communication poses a threat to the public and that the practice of forwarding should be either disallowed or regulated. Chief Raymaker provided a historical perspective on the matter and issued guidance about submitting a request for a declaratory statement from the division. Director Hurm thanked the industry members for their comment and said the division would continue to monitor the issue.

September 13, 2019

• The quarterly meeting of the Private Investigation, Recovery, and Security Advisory Council (PIRSAC) convened in Orlando on Friday, September 13, 2019. Several members of the Division of Licensing management staff were in attendance: Director Steve Hurm, Assistant Director Jordan Anderson, Chief of Regulation and Enforcement John Raymaker, and Chief of the Bureau of License Issuance Brandee Jurkowski. Michael Whitman, Chief of Investigative Services in the Office of Agricultural Law Enforcement (OALE), was also present at this meeting.

• Director Hurm updated the Council about the division’s ongoing efforts to address the problem of fraudulent training certificates. He described the collaboration between the division’s Bureau of License Issuance and the department’s OALE in identifying these certificates and pursuing investigations to determine the depth and breadth of the fraudulent activity. Council members and industry representatives offered several ideas for dealing with this problem, ranging from requiring that training certificates be accepted only via online submission to enhancing civil and criminal penalties for submitting fake training documentation. The Council voted to create a working group to develop recommendations to address this problem. Director Hurm said that DOL staff would coordinate a time and meeting location for the working group and would notify participants when information was available.
• Director Hurm also discussed measures taken by OALE to reign in noncompliant and unlicensed activity. He introduced Chief Michael Whitman to elaborate on his division’s recent fieldwork. Chief Whitman gave Council members a detailed review of the sweep of recovery agencies conducted by his office from August 20 through August 22 in Hillsborough, Pasco, and Pinellas counties. During this three-day operation, OALE investigators visited more than 50 agencies. Chief Whitman said that his investigators issued citations for a variety of infractions, including employing unlicensed and unsponsored interns, improper vehicle inventories, failure to have a licensed manager at an agency location, failure to submit sponsorship documentation for licensed interns, etc. These violations were referred to the Division of Licensing’s Legal Section for review and appropriate action. Chief Whitman assured the Council that additional field operations would be scheduled in the coming weeks and months.

Answers to Frequently Asked Questions

The Division of Licensing regularly receives questions from individual licensees and agency managers concerning various aspects of regulated activity. This edition of the Newsletter includes some of these questions and the answers that were provided.

NOTE: The statements provided by the division in response to the questions below give general guidance and clarification about basic provisions contained in the law. The information provided here does not constitute legal advice and is not intended as a substitute for obtaining legal advice. Legal advice must be tailored to specific circumstances and situations. Individuals and agencies licensed pursuant to Chapter 493, Florida Statutes, should not use the answers to these questions to guide their business decisions and practices without first seeking qualified professional legal counsel.

QUESTION: Can licensed security officers carry weapons like oleoresin capsicum (OC) pepper sprays, tasers, and expandable batons while performing regulated duties?

ANSWER: There is no provision in Chapter 493, Florida Statutes, that would prohibit licensed security officers from carrying non-lethal weapons such as pepper sprays, batons, and tasers. The law gives the Division of Licensing authority to regulate these kinds of weapons. Section 493.6115(10) states that the division “may promulgate rules to establish minimum standards to issue licenses for weapons other than firearms.” However, the Division of Licensing has never promulgated such rules. Thus, the use of such weapons is not regulated under Chapter 493.

The current version of the Security Officer Curriculum Training Guide (revised in November 2018 and officially adopted in Rule 5N-1.140 in June 2019) includes a one-hour training segment on these non-lethal weapons. Because the use of these kinds of weapons is common in the security industry, industry representatives and agency managers had recommended that the division add this material to the curriculum training guide so that prospective security officers would receive basic training about these weapons.

The division recommends that security agencies take exceptional care when placing officers on post with chemical sprays, batons, and tasers. While Chapter 493 does not address the carrying and use of these weapons, it is the responsibility of the security agency to put in place clear guidelines and policies concerning the operation and proper use of these devices for the sake of public safety.

QUESTION: Do vehicle spotters and camera car drivers employed by recovery agencies need Class “E” or “EE” licenses?

ANSWER: Yes. Any recovery agency employee who locates assets for repossession should be licensed as a recovery agent or recovery agent intern. While vehicle spotters and camera car drivers are not engaged in the act of repossession, which involves taking control, custody, and possession of property, these individuals are attempting to locate a person’s whereabouts and the whereabouts of the property to be repossessed. This process, commonly known as skip tracing, is, in the view of the Division of Licensing, a legal part of the... recovery process. In Rod’s Recovery Agency v. Dep’t of State, Div. of Licensing, 606 So. 2d 458 (Fla. 1st DCA 1992), the First District Court of Appeal ruled that the definition of “repossession” included the act of locating vehicles, thus upholding the division’s interpretation of the law. Therefore, employees using cameras or license plate recognition (LPR) technology to locate vehicles must possess Class “E” or “EE” licenses.

QUESTION: Can a recovery agency manager assign an unlicensed regular office employee to perform a recovery on a one-time emergency basis if one of the agency’s licensed agents is unable to report to work?

ANSWER: No. There are two key sections of Florida law that would specifically disallow this practice. First, Section 493.6401(4), Florida Statutes, requires anyone performing the services of recovery agent to possess a Class “E” license. Paragraph (5) of this section allows a Class “EE” intern to perform repossessions provided that the intern is acting under the direction and control of a properly licensed sponsor. Second, Section 493.6101(22), Florida Statutes, stipulates that a repossession is complete “when a licensed recovery agent is in control, custody, and possession of such repossessed property.” Therefore, a Class “E” or Class “EE” license holder must be present during at a repossession in order to complete a lawful recovery. There is nothing in the law, however, that would prohibit an unlicensed member of a recovery agency's office staff from accompanying the licensed recovery agent or intern to witness the recovery or to assist in performing required administrative tasks (like notifying law enforcement after the repossession has been completed or assisting in the inventory of personal property in the reposessed vehicle).

QUESTION: Does a licensed security agency need an additional license or special certification to provide funeral escort service?

ANSWER: Chapter 493, Florida Statutes, does not require an agency to possess any additional certification or supplemental license for its vehicles or employees to serve as escorts in a funeral procession.

Security agency managers should be aware of the regulations governing funeral processions and traffic right-of-way in Section 316.1974. This section of law also includes information about the type and color of lights that are required on vehicles in funeral processions. Paragraph (2)(a) of this section reads as follows:

“All non-law enforcement funeral escort vehicles and funeral lead vehicles shall be equipped with at least one lighted circulation lamp exhibiting an amber or purple light or lens visible under normal atmospheric conditions for a distance of 500 feet from the front of the vehicle. Flashing amber or purple lights may be used only when such vehicles are used in a funeral procession.”

The importance of adhering to traffic regulations and right-of-way cannot be overemphasized. A news story produced by a Miami television station in 2017 reported on the frequent accidents involving private security company employees that had occurred during funeral processions. The division recommends that security agency management make a courtesy call to local law enforcement if they are planning to assign their employees to work in a funeral procession.
ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS

Pursuant to Section 493.6123, Florida Statutes, the Division of Licensing is required to publish the name and locality of any licensed or unlicensed person or agency against whom an administrative complaint has been filed and a final order has been issued. The following is a list of final orders issued during the period January 1, 2019, through September 30, 2019. NOTE: When “X” precedes a license type, it designates unlicensed activity in that regulated field. EXAMPLE: “XC” indicates unlicensed private investigative activity; “XE” indicates unlicensed repossesson activity.
